

Intercompany Management

Automate Intercompany Reconciliation for a Faster Close

Intercompany reconciliation often delays the production of consolidated financial statements.

With centralized group reporting, local entities submit their books to head office. But with many unmatched transactions at the entity level, matching can be a complex and time-consuming process.

Automate your intercompany reconciliation – turning it into a unified, collaborative process with Prophix.

Make the switch from centralized reporting to a decentralized process where different entities are responsible for reconciling their transactions.

A Collaborative Platform

Facilitate communication between entities and support extensive traceability with our collaborative platform. With workflows, your consolidation team can visualize the reconciliation process entity by entity, highlighting transactions where action may be required.

Transform your intercompany reconciliation with:

- A collaborative platform (data, document, and comment exchanges)
- Automated processes
- Reconciliation at the transaction level
- Fast implementation and integration with other Finance solutions

What I like about Prophix is that we are directly in contact with the development team. Our contacts aren't just salespeople – there is a real dialogue with the vendor. We feel like our needs are understood, and our suggestions are valuable.”

Empower different entities to perform reconciliation in real-time with Prophix. Each entity has the power to choose when they complete their reconciliation within the pre-defined period. With the rapid identification and justification of discrepancies, entities can reconcile with:

- A partner, a subgroup, or all companies within the group
- Information, comments, and documents shared between entities
- Time differences, exchange differences, and value-added tax (VAT)

Entities can also include currency conversions by referencing transactions and invoices, including accounting and transaction currencies.

Improve Your Financial Information
